

Video Title: Operations and Manufacturing

Video Description: Packing Merck products and coordinating the scheduling of distribution keeps Ruben Berrios on his toes. He says he best operates at Merck because of the various roles he fills in his department.

Voiceover

As a senior manufacturing supervisor at Merck, Ruben Berrios packs many responsibilities.

Ruben Berrios, Senior Manufacturing Supervisor

:08

It's really exciting to know that we are actually the last line of the defense before the product goes out to the customer.

Ruben

:14

Through packaging, I have moved along the process I was actually a front line supervisor were we packed vaccines, syringes, vials presently I am a scheduler for the department. I also manage the resources as far as availability.

Ruben

:28

We thrive on safety its number one. The first thing we talk about all our walkthroughs at most of our meetings the first thing of topic is safety.

Ruben

:38

It's also exciting to know that you are actually putting out a wholesome product to the customers I mean you think about children you know families members that are receiving some of the vaccines that we are actually putting out its nice to know that it came from your area :50

END